Two on PETA staff charged with cruelty to animals

What are your donations funding?

Official government records show that People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) has killed more than 12,000 animals since 1998. PETA employees now face felony animal-cruelty charges for killing puppies and kittens—and throwing many of them in a trash dumpster. This news photo shows police preparing to bury a puppy that PETA’s “ethical” employees left to rot in the trash.

Find out what PETA doesn’t want you to know:

Seized cats being readied for adopt-athon on Aug. 26-28

University of Florida vet school students and veterinarians work to spay and neuter cats as part of Operation Cat Nip on Wednesday.

Doug Finger/Staff photographer

Hundreds of cats seized from a major High Springs hoarding case are being shuttled this week to the University of Florida veterinary college to be spayed or neutered, tested and treated in preparation for an adoption event this month.
